Origins of Paranormal Powers

The first documented appearance of paranormal powers occurred in the early 1930s. Stories of paranormal abilities from earlier times have never been substantiated and may be mythical. The first subjects to exhibit these abilities were between 10 and 13 years old. It has been speculated that a single event caused these effects and that it occurred around 1921. A number of candidates for this cause have been suggested and the main current lines of research are:

- an extraterrestrial origin in the form of a comet or meteorite striking the earth around this date introducing alien elements into the atmosphere (the Cambridge Hypothesis);
- an extraterrestrial origin in the form of a change in the radiation reaching the earth either from deep space or from the sun;
- an alteration in the space-time continuum as a result of the earth entering a region of space in which different physical laws apply;
- natural evolution of traits already present to some degree in the human population (the Homo Superior Hypothesis).

Some alternatives have been suggested by fringe groups but are not considered worthy of further comment: alien intervention, genetic engineering by a government conspiracy, divine intervention etc.

The Cause of Paranormal Abilities

Research by MRO (Mehuen and Price 1989) indicates that all individuals who possess paranormal powers are in fact mutants from the human norm with a slightly different genetic structure. This structure is identifiable. It deviated from the human norm by approximately 1%: that is by about as much as separates Homo Sapiens from Chimpanzees.

MRO research (Price 1990) indicates that all forms of paranormal power are essentially psychic or psionic in origin. Their possessors use the power of will in some poorly understood way to manipulate space, time, natural forces, matter and energy. Tests have indicated that a characteristic and detectable alteration in certain physical properties of space occurs when a paranormal ability is used. Price speculates that the appearance of different forms of paranormal power is associated primarily with the psychological characteristics of the subject. Many mutants exhibit no paranormal powers or only begin to exhibit them when placed in a stress situation. Some of the effects associated with the use of paranormal powers may be a result of the intellectualisation of the abilities by the individual. In other words the mutant feels that the actions are necessary in order to make the abilities function: which may only be true in a psychological sense. Price argues that most mutants only exhibit certain types of powers for the same reason.

Types of Paranormal Power

MRO has divided paranormal powers into a number of classes (Kinley and Smith 1972) according to observed characteristics. It is current MRO theory that even abilities such as 'Magic' and 'Technology' are in fact simply effects of paranormal psionic ability though this has been disputed (Hawkins 1991, Hyatt 1991). MRO argues (Price 1990) that this explains why the apparently technological items produced by certain mutants have proved impossible to duplicate. He also believes that most of the enhanced physical abilities shown by mutants have the same origin.

Incidence of Mutation in the Population

Surveys on this matter (See HMSO1990a) indicate that within the UK as much as 1% of the population fall within the genetic variation described as 'mutants'. MRO divides mutants into four types based on their paranormal abilities (Kinley and Smith 1972): minor mutants, full mutants, paranormals and full paranormals.

Minor mutants make up 94% of the mutant population: that is 0.94% of the whole population (approximately 1 for every 100 population) and when tested show the characteristic genetic variation. There are no other external signs that a mutation has occurred and tests indicate no appreciable variation from standard human abilities. There is evidence to suggest that approximately 10% of minor mutants will later become one of the other classes. 35% of minor mutants are under the age of 20.

Full mutants make up 5.7% of the mutant population: that is 0.057% of the whole population (approximately 1 for every 5000 population) and when tested show the characteristic genetic variation. 16% demonstrate external features that deviate from the human norm. All when tested demonstrate manual dexterity, strength, endurance and speed about 1.5X that of the human norm.

Paranormals make up 0.1% of the mutant population: that is 0.001% of the whole population (1 for every 100 000 population). They exhibit physical characteristics in line with full mutants but have paranormal powers to some degree.

Full paranormals make up 0.05% of the mutant population: that is 0.0005% of the whole population (1 for every 200 000 population). They exhibit physical characteristics at least twice the human norm and frequently much higher. They possess extreme paranormal power.

A strong regional variation has been detected in the incidence of mutants (UNPS 1975). Exact figures are hard to come by for many regions but Farley (1978) demonstrated a statistical relationship between the percentage of mutants in the population and the genetic variation in the population as a whole and the degree of mobility within that population. For example incidence was low where genetic populations were very distinct. The incidence of mutants for some significant regions is listed below:

Brazil: 1.4%

United States of America: 1.2%

United Kingdom: 1%.

Other Central and South America: 1%

Eastern Europe: 0.8%

Southern Africa: 0.8%

Australia and New Zealand: 0.7%

Canada: 0.7%

Central Asia: 0.6%

Russian Federation: 0.6%

Western and Southern Europe: 0.5%

Near and Middle East: 0.5%

North Africa: 0.4%

Northern Indian Subcontinent: 0.3%

East Africa: 0.2%

South East Asia: 0.1%

Southern Indian Subcontinent: 0.08%

Central Africa: 0.06%

China: 0.04%

Oceania: 0.01%

It is notable that the proportions of the different classes of mutation do not appear to vary from region to region.

Social and Political Effects of Mutation

Summary

The development of the mutant population has resulted in some dislocation in all areas of the world. The degree of dislocation appears to depend on the proportion of mutants within the population with higher proportions producing greater social dislocation. The second main factor seems to be the degree of centralised control in the state with those states with weak central government suffering more. The final factor appears to be the degree of individualism within society with those societies organised on a more collective basis better able to resist disruption. The greatest effects have been experienced in the weaker African states where individuals with paranormal powers have come to dominate governments in a series of coups. A similar effect though less strong has been visible in Central and South America. The USA and Brazil have experienced strong disruptive tendencies that have encouraged regionalism and a weakening of central government. The Near and Middle East has suffered problems as mutants have been drawn into regional conflicts with has tended to exacerbate already serious regional difficulties. The collapse of the USSR was encouraged by the deployment of mutants. The Balkans has experienced similar problems. European countries and China have been less affected. European countries have experienced problems with racist Anti-Mutant movements and terrorism by the same and by paranormals.

Historians have speculated as to the effects on 20th Century history of the appearance of mutants. This debate is ongoing and most of these arguments are in dispute but some of the ideas include:

Leiber (1986) suggested that the Second World War was a product of the use of mutant hatred by the Nazi party to rise to power.

Griggson (1990) suggested that the USA would have risen to the status of the world's undisputed superpower if she had avoided the problems she experienced in dealing with a high mutant population.

Randal (1974) argued that the United Kingdom would have been far more able to retain her Imperial possessions if local insurrections had not been supported by those with paranormal powers. He even suggested that the UK would not have had to offer limited self-government to India in 1952 and that today Britain would still possess full Imperial authority rather than exerting control through the Commonwealth Commission. He presented a similar argument with reference to the French Imperial possessions.

Shostovich (1990) argued that mutants contributed directly to the collapse of the USSR and that without them the USSR would still exist as a superpower.

Many other ideas have been presented but these references give some idea of the significance of the subject.

Organizations

Full details are provided for those groups that have been encountered by our organisation or whose operations are considered significant. Certain other organisations have a brief entry that will be updated if necessary. The full files can be identified as they have an entry for last update. Descriptions of individual members are given when they are available.

Anti-Mutant

Notes: Anti-Mutant is a political organisation which aims to control mutants and other individuals with paranormal abilities. It seeks stronger legislation to control their activities and greater resources to combat the so-called 'mutant menace'. Anti-Mutant is seen by many as the political wing of OMEL. It has its HQ in central London. The head of Anti-Mutant, Adrian Gormley was killed in the 'D-Day' coup. The following head of AM, John Cade, was killed in 1997 by Quicksilver. The current leader is Margaret Hepworth. No MPs are official members but several are known to be sympathetic. Anti-Mutant was linked to the SPB 'D-Day' coup attempt in 1996.

Brighton Research Group (BRG)

The BRG was one of the British front operations of the GEM. It appears to have represented GEM's internal enforcers. Its main functions were covert operations associated with the capture and recruitment of mutants and the suppression of Chaos supported activities in Britain. Members included Ebon, Hammer, Flay and Tyche. Following the GEM revelations all members of the BRG are missing and the group is disbanded.

Cardiff Research Group (CRG)

The CRG was one of the GEM's front organisations in the UK. Never a public body it remained a group of the more questionable GEM operatives. Its main functions were covert operations associated with the capture and recruitment of mutants and the suppression of Chaos supported activities in Britain. The leader of the group was Crisis and significant members included Black Bear, Ripper and Lamia. Ripper was apparently killed in action on 14/6/96 fighting the Circle though his body has not been recovered. Following the GEM revelations of 1997 Black Bear joined the SPB. The other operatives disappeared.

Chaos (All Ways)

Last update: 11/12/97

Known members: NB: the following names are those used by the individuals in question and have not been translated. Castellós, Billy Bones, Imago, Troll, Green Witch, Ice Age, Dire Wolf, Feathered Serpent, White Vampire (Captured by SPB), Banyan, Copper Colossus, Hypnotic Wraith, Camino, Calor, Gespenst, Padrino, Furacao, Unmenschlich, Tigre Invincible, Contagio, Vault, Mariner, Sharpshooter, Boneca, Eco, Mecanicienne, Spark, Megaton, Morning Star, Aguja, Polis, Dogon, Assegai, Tzen Hui, Ronin, Woomera, Shrieker, Supersonic, Windsword (captured by SPB), Powerwraith (Captured by the SPB), Gray Ninja. Chaos has at least another ten full paranormals working for it and around eighty paranormals. It has hundreds of well-equipped full mutant agents and deploys substantial and well-equipped armed forces. The leaders of Chaos – the gods have only recently been identified and have not been seen in operations.

Leader: The leaders of Chaos are probably the beings who call themselves 'gods'. Castellós is the most powerful mutant working for Chaos but there is no clear evidence to suggest he is their leader.

Area of Operations: World-wide.

Base: Chaos has a large number of bases around the world. It is believed that the All Ways Corporation is a front of Chaos. The main base of operations is South America where Chaos controls Bolivia and Paraguay.

Purpose: Their efforts appear to be directed at creating a new world order by destroying established states and creating the conditions where powerful mutants can in effect dominate the world. It is not clear what their ultimate motives may be but they seem to be especially resisting the efforts of the GEM. Recent information indicates that Chaos is controlled by a mysterious set of beings with paranormal powers who call themselves gods. These beings intend to regain the domination of the world that they claim to have possessed in the past.

Known Actions: Chaos is a powerful group that operates internationally. They have been in operation at least since 1979. New reports and analysis indicate activities may go back much further to the 1950s but they were not connected to Chaos until recently. They are believed to have a large organisation. In the UK their most famous operation was an attempt to destroy London in 1988 with a nuclear device they had stolen from a missile base in the Ukraine. This attempt was thwarted by the Guardians at the cost of two of their members. This should help to indicate the degree of ruthlessness shown by this organisation. Internationally they are most famous for the following actions: the assassination of the president of France in 1980; the murder of 89 members of the Dutch parliament in 1983; their attempt to destroy the UN Building in 1984; the destruction of the city of Atlanta in 1986; and the defeat of the army of Paraguay in 1992. They suffered their greatest defeat in 1986 at the hand of three American groups in which 8 members of Chaos were killed and 23 captured including 4 full paranormals. The American groups failed however to prevent their greatest atrocity: the destruction of Atlanta. In 1995 Chaos launched a successful attack on the peacekeeping force in Bosnia. They may or may not have been acting alone but succeeded in destabilising the situation still further. It now appears that Chaos had important links with the pre-reform SPB and may have ultimately been behind the 'D-Day' coup attempt. On 18/3/97 it was discovered that Chaos was operating with the SPB Remnant to supply the Circle with high tech arms. These were being produced in Croatia. From 29/4/97 to 3/5/97 Chaos attempted to steal British nuclear weapons technology but were stopped by the SPB. On 10/5/97 Chaos launched a major assault on the UK in alliance with the Circle which caused major damage including the destruction of Brighton and the devastation of the south coast. Large areas of London and Birmingham were also reduced to ruins. Following their withdrawal on 21/5/97 the attack on Brazil began and the UK operation may have been designed to weaken Britain sufficiently to avoid intervention in South America. The Circle were left to continue the operation in the UK.

Threat Analysis: maximum.

Castellós: True name and birth date unknown but active since at least 1940. Believed to be Spanish. Castellós is one of the most powerful mutants known. He is tough, cunning and ruthless. He is extremely strong and is resistant to most attacks. Castellós first appeared working for the Spanish Nationalist Government but may have joined Chaos as early as the mid 50s.

Megaton: True Name: Lars Henrikson. Date of Birth: 6/3/68 Iceland. Megaton is an extremely powerful mutant who can fire fusion bolts. He is known for extreme violence and personally supervised the destruction of Atlanta early in his career.

Crawler: True Name: Liam Evans, Born 20/3/77. Crawler worked as an agent for Glaxo and was suspected of involvement in several examples of industrial espionage in Europe. In 1997 he appears to have fallen out with the company – probably because he was passing secrets to the Circle as he is now a Circle operative. Known powers: absorption and tunnelling, he also possesses a stealth suit of his own design.

There seems to be no obvious pattern to who they target except that the more famous an individual is the more likely they are to become a target.

Known actions: numerous murders. They were captured in 1994 by the SPG but escaped in the mass breakout from Skye. They have since killed the serial killer mutant Claw. They have had a number of clashes with the GEM but have always come out on top. They were defeated by the SPG late in 1997 in London. Scythe was killed and Gideon captured.

They have recently allied themselves with the MLF and Justice Bringers in a campaign against the government. On 18/11/97 they attacked an RAF base near Cardiff where they stole ‘bunker-buster’ bombs which they used on the Severn Barrage damaging it severely. Attempts by SPB Delta to stop them failed.

GEM

Last update: 4/5/97

The GEM is a secretive organisation whose exact aims are unclear. They appear to have front operations controlling mutants throughout the world, rear support bases and large logistic and supply HQs. They are believed to have command bases. Assets include large numbers of full paranormal agents and full mutant agents and troopers. They also seem to control high technology items of an unusual and possibly alien design. GEM has been associated with creatures known as 'greys' which have variously been believed to be aliens, androids or a type of mutant. These 'greys' are known to use craft which resemble the classic flying saucer. GEM's main activities seem to be recruiting full paranormals by persuasion or force, covertly taking over countries and countering the actions of Chaos. Which of these activities is their main aim and which are means to that end remains uncertain. They operated until 1997 through front organisations in the UK called Research Groups but these seem to have been disbanded and their current organisation is uncertain. GEM operations go back as far as the 1940s at least.

The skins of his victims were initially tanned and delivered in packages to the home of the Director of Glasgow social services: Thomas Hamilton despite several changes of address. In 1985 Hamilton suffered a breakdown and resigned from his job. He died, apparently a suicide, in 1986. From 1986 to 1988 the packages were delivered to Hamilton's replacement Mrs Alice Cope (former deputy director). She died in 1988 in a road accident. The final three packages were delivered to the new director Angus MacRae. He escaped in the mass breakout of 20/12/95 continued his career flaying 2 more women in Cardiff and 3 in Birmingham. He was captured by the NRG on 20/8/96. Flay has never spoken about his actions though he left pages of notes which are held by the SPG. They use a variety of symbols and have never been deciphered. In this battle two Guardians were killed: Guardian (the leader and founder member) and Renegade. They are also known for having staged an unsuccessful raid on the SPG prison on the Isle of Skye on 17/7/94. Leader: Lugh when operating alone otherwise often Mystic.

Area of Operation: Europe.

Base: Varies.

They are usually considered to be insane, however there is some evidence to suggest that their programme does have practical results.

Known Actions: The Harbingers have been active since 1984. Until 1986 their actions appeared to be largely non-violent and of confusing purpose but always associated with ancient monuments or unusual landscape features. During 1986 they became associated with Mystic and their campaign took on a violent though still confusing turn. They were involved in conflicts with the Guardians, SPG and SPB. They were arrested with Mystic by the SPB on 12/1/87 following an undercover operation. Exactly what was going on remains unclear but they were convicted of treason and sentenced to life imprisonment on Skye. They escaped from Skye in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. They then seem to have continued their programme lead by Mystic but were defeated by the NRG. The Immortals

The Immortals are a little known group of individuals with special powers. They have been operating at least since the early 40s. They do not seem to be based in any one country and no clear pattern has ever been detected to their activities. They seem to counter certain actions by other groups: either government controlled or criminal and are believed to be responsible for other actions. They never claim credit for their operations. In the UK their most prominent recent actions have been a fight with the Earth Defenders in Tyneside where they seemed to be protecting a chemical plant and a battle with a SPG team in Manchester where they stopped them arresting a minor group called The Takers. Abroad they were notably involved in the destruction of the Contra guerrillas in Nicaragua and the overthrow of the military junta in Chile. There may be as many as ten Immortals and they all seem to be very powerful. Interestingly the Immortals appear the same in recent appearances as when first seen in the 40s.

Only Powerarc escaped. The current leader Red Fury was captured along with Termagent, The Shape of Fire, Sapphire and Mercuria. The Shape of Fire and the Termagent were released in late 1995 apparently as part of a prisoner exchange with the SPB. They were the main organisation behind the power line campaign from 10/9/95 to 30/9/95 that brought chaos to the country. They were captured by our agents on 30/9/95 and were held briefly at the SPG prison on Skye before the whole organisation regained their freedom in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. They were involved in resisting the SPB coup attempt. Following the failure of the coup they began a campaign for equal representation for mutants in political bodies. This has included a destructive attack on GCHQ. During the Chaos attack of 1997 they offered to support the fight in exchange for an equal share in the government. This offer was rejected and they joined forces with the Circle to try to take over the government. This attempt was defeated on 25/7/97 by the SPB.

Mutant Research Organization (MRO)

MRO was a branch of the SPB that was responsible for investigating mutants and mutant powers. The locations of its research facilities were not made public and several operated undercover behind front organisations. Certain MRO compounds were in known locations: East London Compound, Glasgow Compound and Dartmoor Compound. The public locations had very heavy security. As a branch of the SPB MRO was not open to public scrutiny and this allowed it to be infiltrated by Chaos who began to control its operations. Following the coup attempt of 24/1/96 in which the SPB were discovered to be complicit MRO was shut down. The equipment used in its installations was removed by means that remain unclear. This equipment which was extremely high technology and was probably supplied by Chaos. MRO's function appeared to have been to gather genetic material from humans, mutants and some unknown sources and to use this material to clone creatures with paranormal powers. It was discovered that MRO and the SOMC were one and the same. The SPB is now under the supervision of SSCOPA and MRO has been reduced to a branch of this new organisation.

OPF

The OPF is the paranormal powers unit of the French Empire. It has wide powers and duties including internal security and police work, military operations and black ops. There is no real separation of powers within the French command structure. The OPF has 8 Regiments each consisting of 5 platoons: 1 G-Tank Platoon (3 tanks) and 3 Infantry Platoons (3 squads each with one G-Carrier carrying 8 troopers, a driver and a gunner). Paranormals make up a separate body who are attached as necessary. The OPF has around 30 paranormals including Neige, Ultime, Reacteur, Acier, Vie, Chronos, Velours and Adjima.

Organization for Mutant Elimination (OMEL)

OMEL is a terrorist organisation in existence since 1972 that aims to kill mutants and protect humanity from super powered take-over. It is organised in a cell structure but has a Command

Council. It is a crime to be a member of OMEL so naturally no members are known. Usual techniques include assassinations and bombings. In the 1990s OMEL become a more serious threat with the acquisition of a good supply of heavy weapons. The source of this supply is now known to have been the SOMC. The insurgents used OMEL in the 1996 coup attempt. They managed to disappear after the coup and acquired even more equipment. It is now believed that they have some major arms dumps located around the country and will continue to be a major threat as long as they can recruit new members from Anti-Mutant. On 26/9/96 they attacked the NRG using two full squads with heavy weapons. All were captured. See also Anti-Mutant.

Oxford Research Group (ORG)

The ORG was one of the British front operations of the GEM. Its main functions were covert operations associated with the capture and recruitment of mutants and the suppression of Chaos supported activities in Britain. The leader of the group was Frost and other members included Twister, Swordman and Steel Eagle. Following the GEM revelations all members of the ERG are missing and the group is disbanded.

The Paladins

Last update: 12/12/97

Known Members: Europa, Falcon, Giant, Raptor, Fornax and Spirit.

Leader: Giant.

Area of Operations: United Kingdom and Europe.

Base: unknown.

Purpose: The Paladins are mutant crime fighters who especially resist mutant criminal groups. They are outside the law due to some of their past actions but have quite a good reputation with the public.

Known actions: The Paladins have been active since 1989. In this period they have fought many battles with villain groups but are most famous for their conflict with Pyramid in 1991. In 1993 they were attacked by the SPB and in the resulting battle several SPB agents were killed. This battle lead to their arrest and imprisonment on Skye until the mass breakout of 20/12/95. They were involved in resisting the SPB coup attempt. In 1997 they were controlled by the Pyramid using some unusual technology probably stolen from the GEM and used in Pyramid's attempt to take over Tunisia. They were freed by GEM agents. They moved their operations to London to counter the Circle and took part in the fight against the Chaos invasion. They were defeated by Chaos on 15/7/97 and Europa (their leader) was seriously wounded. The Paladins then went to Brazil to fight the Chaos invasion and are currently missing.

Threat Analysis: moderate.

Europa: True name: Dominique Capitane. Born 8/5/72 St Jean d'Angely. A charismatic and attractive leader motivated by altruism and known for her chivalry she is not noted for great tactical ability but her telepathic powers are invaluable in battle. Spirit: True name: Maria Beneona. Born 16/3/72 Verona Italy. Spirit is extremely attractive and is a favourite with the tabloid press especially The Sun. Powers: Out Phase.

Paranormal Defence Units (PDU)

Notes: the PDU are special squads set up by each Police Authority to contain events outside the ability of the normal police to deal with. They have heavy equipment and armoured vehicles. Numbers vary around the country but they are often as few as 20 strong in each region. They are also not very effective against serious threats from super powered individuals being too slow to reach the scene of many incidents in sufficient force. They are also frequently overmatched by larger or more powerful groups of opponents. Public confidence in their ability was not high. In 1997 the PDUs were upgraded following the recruitment of the Barley Brothers who reequipped their units with hi-tech weapons and G-Carriers. The PDU now also have hi-tech combat robots and have recruited a number of mutants: Icicle, Sniper, Grizzly and Amp who operate in London. Sniper was badly wounded in battle against Chaos on 13/3/97 and is currently out of action.

The Puppeteer

The Puppeteer is the name given to a very powerful mutant who is believed to control a large international organisation which operated under a wide variety of covers. The real name of the Puppeteer is unknown but this code has been used by some of his organisation under interrogation. It is believed that the Puppeteer controls a wide variety of criminal activities including drug production and distribution, prostitution, gambling and protection rackets. He has been able to defeat many other organised criminal organisations with his wide use of mutants and he is now considered to control the largest such organisation in the world.

SPG telepaths cracked the conspiracy and Pyramid were arrested however the SPG were unable to arrest their backers. After receiving life sentences for treason they escaped in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. In 1997 they nearly succeeded in taking over Tunisia using a combination of disguise and some high technology equipment apparently stolen from the GEM. The plot was defeated by GEM agents. They were captured by the OPF and now appear to be working for them.

Threat Analysis: major.

Special Commando

Notes: The special commando units are part of the British Army. There are 3 Special Commando units, 1st, 2nd and 3rd. These units are not normally allowed to operate within the UK except under special circumstances: that is a major threat to national security, martial law or disaster. They do not have police powers. They do operate against terrorism especially in Northern Ireland and in parts of the Commonwealth. Special Commando is made up only of mutants and has an established strength of 4 full paranormals per unit, 8 paranormals with the remaining members being full mutants to bring each commando up to a strength of 3 platoons. The 1st Special Commando was formed during WWII. Special Commando has seen action in all of the UK's military actions since then and was significant in the Anglo-French victory in the Suez War as well as taking a major part in the Falklands Campaign where they faced a similar Argentine formation. Following the mass breakout from the Skye prison of 20/12/95 1st Special commando were put under the control of the SPB as part of the State of Emergency. They fought rather unwillingly for the insurgents in the 1996 coup attempt under the SPB's orders but changed sides when the plot was revealed. As of 1997 1st and 2nd Special Commando are based in Bosnia where they are engaged against Chaos and the OPF. 3rd Special Commando is deployed in Northern Island. Names of members of Special Commando are secret and all are identically uniformed.

Special Organization for Mutant Control (SOMC)

This name was used as a code for MRO when it was associated with illegal activities. Several compounds nominally controlled by MRO appear to have actually been SOMC. The SOMC had access to some very unusual technology. They were involved in an attempt to clone mutants genetically engineered to show certain abilities. SOMC and their equipment disappeared after the 1996 coup. It is believed that SOMC was essentially a branch of Chaos controlled via the All Ways Group.

Special Powers Bureau (SPB) pre 1996

See also: MRO.

Last update: 4/5/97

For details of organisation and membership today refer to SPB Organisation.

Previous Members: Crystal, Blinder, Jewell, Djinni, Mindlock and Furie. The SPB also used unusual troops and agents who seem to have been genetically modified clones.

Leader: The SPB was a branch of MI5 under the supervision of SSCOPA. Before the coup of 1996 the head of the SPOB was Sir Lawrence Agneau who is now missing.

Area of Operations: United Kingdom and the British Empire.

Base: The official HQ was Thornbury House, Westminster, London. The SPB maintained area offices in other areas. They also had a large compound near Stafford and command centres such as SPB Command Centre 'A' in Leicestershire which were closed down after the coup attempt.

Purpose: The official purpose of the SPB was to protect the state against subversion by super powered individuals and organisations controlled or using the same. The coup attempt revealed that their actual purpose prior to 1996 was to take over the country. The SPB had been infiltrated by Chaos which was able to provide it with high technology equipment.

Known Actions: Founded 12/3/40. The SPB used undercover operations and direct action to achieve its' aims. It did not advertise its' activities and many of its' operations go on unknown to the public at large. The SPB called on other organisations to support them notably MI5, Special Branch, PDU and the SPG. Chaos influence probably began around 1980 and reached full dominance around 1990.

Threat Analysis: none.

SPB Remnant

This was the name used for the surviving elements of the SPB after the 1996 'D-Day' coup which operated in the Netherlands shipping arms to the Circle from Chaos factories in Croatia. GEM eliminated the Remnant.

Purpose; The SPG has full police powers and acts as a law enforcement agency with a special brief to counter crimes by super powered individuals and organisations.

They fought on the side of the insurgents in the 'D-Day' coup but were persuaded to change sides once the plot was revealed. From 1996 onwards they have had serious problems coping with Circle actions in England. On 14/2/97 the SPG suffered a catastrophe when they were defeated in a major showdown with the Circle who were supported by The Fallen, Iron Gargoyle and Black Hole. Standing Strategic Committee on Paranormal Affairs (SSCOPA)

Notes: SSCOPA is a government body set up to oversee the state's response to paranormal activity of all kinds and includes within its brief mutants and other individuals with paranormal abilities. SSCOPA was set up by the 1954 Paranormal Threat to the Nation Act. SSCOPA is responsible directly to parliament. The membership consists of 10 MPs selected proportionally to represent the current makeup of parliament. These MPs select a chair of the committee each year. The committee then co-opts any number of advisors to work as non-voting members of the committee. The current chair of SSCOPA is Sir Marcus Huntingdon. SSCOPA supervises the SPG and is responsible for maintaining parliament's control of their actions. SSCOPA can also designate individuals as SSCOPA Special Investigators who then have the power to gather information for the committee with legal rights based on acts of parliament.

The Takers

The Takers are a large group of paranormals (usually around 10). They specialize in sudden raids on town centres in which they disable any opposition as quickly as possible and load as much loot into vehicles as they can and leave before serious opponents can arrive. They have been doing this since 1990. Averaging about 2 raids per year. Their most dangerous moment was when they were engaged by an SPG team during a raid on Manchester. They were rescued by the Immortals for reasons which are very unclear.

United Nations International Special Rapid Reaction Force (UNISRREF)

UN Resolution 871 passed in 1972 allowed the creation of a UN force designed to combat insurgency by paranormal forces around the world. Each UN member was requested to provide one full paranormal of the highest class to join this body and funding was to be provided by member states. In practice few countries have sent one of their better agents and many have sent none at all. In addition funding has always been a problem. Commentators see the underlying difficulty in being that the organisation is most popular with smaller and poorer countries who lack special forces of their own and least popular with the Great Powers. In practice there are usually around 60 members of the force organised into 3 units. Their abilities vary widely and in operation they have often found co-operation difficult. In addition their reaction is by no means rapid and many UN members have expressed extreme frustration at the speed of their response. The main problem here is that a resolution of the Security Council is necessary to deploy them.

Individuals

Adam Zarw

Adam Zarw appears as a tall white skinned man with totally black eyes. His origins are uncertain but he does not seem to be a mutant in the conventional sense. Zarw is the name of an Ancient Egyptian city and he possesses a board-game of Ancient Egyptian origin with unusual powers. There is some evidence to suggest that he was active early this century with a sighting in Syria in 1910. He seems to be the enemy of mystical cults such as the Harbingers as well as of Mystic and the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. His powers are hard to classify but include some conjuring abilities.

Black Hole

True name: Mark Anson. Born 6/8/63. Wanted for murder, grievous bodily harm, criminal assault, escaping custody and armed robbery. Black Hole is a powerful mercenary mutant works for a variety of criminal organisations throughout the world. He is dangerous especially if crossed but does not seem to be especially vindictive or ambitious. He escaped from prison on Skye during the mass breakout of 2012/95 where he was serving a life sentence for the murder of a policeman during a fight in London. In 1997 he began working for the Circle. Powers: gravity.

Hekete

True name: unknown. Born: sometime in 1920s or 30s in Exeter. Hekete must have been one of the earliest mutants. She appears to have the ability to create mutations of a similar sort in normal humans thereby creating her 'Ghouls'. She appears as a semi-rotten corpse, She is a dangerous opponent especially in her own ground. Driven away from Exeter by the NRG in 1995 her current whereabouts are unknown.

The Iron Baron

True name: Klaus von Tek. Born 18/3/52 Neubrandenburg Germany. The Iron Baron is one of the world's most powerful mutants. In 1993 he became ruler of Estonia where his regime is known for efficiency. Under his rule Estonia has been quite successful economically and the population have some freedom as long as this does not involve criticising the Iron Baron or his policies. A powerful body of mutant mercenaries supports him. On 7/2/96 the Iron Baron managed to lure the Guardians into a trap and held them prisoner until he was defeated on 17/3/97 by the British SPB and Special Commando. The Iron Baron was taken to the UK and is currently on Skye.

Iron Gargoyle

True name: Declan Kennedy. Born: 13/3/66 London, England. Iron Gargoyle is distinctive in as much as he looks rather like a church gargoyle. He was placed in care soon after birth but experienced many problems due to his appearance in early life and was soon in secure accommodation. In 1982 he escaped and began a career of violent crime. He worked for a variety of criminal organisations especially for the Ebon Queen until Steel Eagle captured him in 1993. He escaped prison in the mass breakout of 1995 and now works for the Ebon Queen once more.

Mystic

True name: Laura Eyzies. Born 6/6/66 Devizes. Mystic is powerful mutant who controls various demonic entities. She is able to operate alone but sometimes operates with various cults (notably the Harbingers). Her aims are difficult to determine but appear to involve magical or mystical changes in the environment and are therefore similar to the Harbingers. She was arrested by the SPB on 12/1/87 following an undercover operation involving the Harbingers. Exactly what was going on remains unclear but they were convicted of treason. She escaped from Skye in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. On 14/3/96 she began an operation with the Harbingers which involved kidnapping some of our agents. The NRG, Agent Smith of the SPG and Adam Zarw defeated her though she escaped. Known powers: conjuring.

Steel Orchid

True name: Alexis Shostovitch. Born: 24/11/66 Tula, Russia. Steel Orchid is a mercenary mutant who has been known to work for a variety of organisations especially the Russian Mafia. She was arrested in London in 1993 by the SPG following the assassination of various business leaders, She escaped in the mass breakout from Skye in 1995. In 1997 she began working for the Circle.

Techno

True name: Anne Christopher. Born 15/6/58 Lincoln. Wanted for murder, treason. Techno is a powerful individual. Her actions appear to be directed at gaining personal power. Though capable of acting alone she often forms alliances with other mutants if it serves her interest (e.g. Pyramid). She was arrested by the SPG on 15/7/92 after the Pyramid coup attempt failed. She escaped from the SPG prison on Skye in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. Techno uses impressive paranormal technology and often recruits agents to work for her though she has a loyal guard of eight full mutants. She is capable of building a large variety of vehicles especially large carriers and APCs that move using anti-gravity. These vehicles are usually cloaked to defeat radar, which makes them especially dangerous. Known powers: technology.

Wild Boar

True name: Gaston Deuchas. Born 3/7/64 Nerac France. Wanted for murder, criminal assault, armed robbery, escaping custody and resisting arrest. Wild Boar is a dangerous and violent criminal mutant who has worked briefly for a number of employers. He was serving a life sentence on Skye for the murder (on contract) of the board of BP before the mass breakout of 20/12/95. He now works for Circle. Known powers: animal (wild boar).

X-Mutant

The X-Mutant is the most powerful single mutant currently known. It is not clear if it is more powerful than the Immortals for example. The X-Mutant first appeared in 1958. Its name, sex and origin's are all unclear. It seems to possess an endless rage against humanity. The only individuals with which it has been known to appear reasonably friendly is other criminal mutants. The X-Mutant appears as a glowing vaguely humanoid shape. It's known actions appear to involve wanton destruction of individuals and organisations. No clear pattern has been detected except that the X-Mutant always exacts revenge on anyone who tries to stop it. The X-Mutant was arrested on 14/4/70 in a combined operation by the SPG and 1st- 3rd Special Commandos in a battle which left central Leeds in ruins. The method used in the capture is still classified. It escaped from Skye in the mass breakout of 20/12/95. In recent times the X-Mutant has been hovering over the Mid-Atlantic Ridge where it appears to be constructing a new island. The X-Mutant causes distortions to the time-space continuum in regions within 1 km of its location. These include time dilation effects, changes in mass and energy, 'lost time' and distortion of the physical structure of objects. These effects are more extreme close in. Known powers: power, stasis.
